WARRIOR ASKS FOR THE ENDS FOR THE ENDS

NEED OF CENTRAL TRIBUNAL
SEEN AT CAPITAL.

NO CHECK ON EXPENDITURES

The Indianapolis News Bureau, 33 West Building.

WASHINGTON, February 16.—It is becoming more and more apparent as the various activities due to the war expand that unless there is to be a tremendous waste of money either the President or the congress must provide some sort of official check on expenditures.

A statement was put out by the treasury department the other day to the effect that the war thus far has not cost as much as the government anticipated. It is estimated that the money has not been wasted, and is not being wasted.

It is certain, however, that the time will come when they will demand an accounting, when they will insist on knowing how the money has been spent and whether there has been any unnecessary waste.

The weakness of the present system is that there is no central tribunal with authority to say whether the money that is being expended is necessary to the success of the war, and if necessary, how much money shall be devoted to it. There is absolutely no check of any kind at present. One would naturally suppose that cabinet officers would exercise some checking influence, but these officials are simply swamped with business and are unable to do so.

It is suggested that a central tribunal be established, or old activities expanded. However, many of the new expenditures that are being set in motion, all under the guise of war activities, are not directed by any cabinet officer.

Busybodies at Work.

This city is overrun with busybodies who spend sleepless nights trying to think up some new war activities that might be established. The faddists and occasional reformers are taking advantage of the situation and are trying to get in the way of the war effort.

It is suggested that a central tribunal be established, or old activities expanded. However, many of the new expenditures that are being set in motion, all under the guise of war activities, are not directed by any cabinet officer.

MRS. MARY NICHOLS DIES OF PNEUMONIA ATTACK

She Had Many Friends Among the Former Students of Butler College.

Mrs. Mary Nichols, age sixty-eight, who had many friends among the former students of Butler college, died at the Methodist hospital last night after an illness of pneumonia. She came to this city from the northern part of the state about thirty-six years ago and established a boarding house for Butler college students. She was known to thousands of students as "Aunt Mary" and "Mrs. Thomas C. Nichols," wife of President Howe of Butler college, was one of those who lived at "Aunt Mary's house," when she was a student at Butler.

Mrs. Nichols is survived by one son, Dr. John D. Nichols, and one daughter, George W. Brown, both of Indianapolis. The funeral services will be held here at the Methodist church, Sunday, February 17, at 10 o'clock. The body will be taken to New Carlisle, Ind., for burial.
